- Prepare the cards: Print one card for each student. Laminate and cut out the cards. Provide each student with a dry erase marker.
- Dictate a word: Teacher dictates a word. Provide visual cues in advance when needed.
- Tap and map: Students repeat the word, then tap each monster from left to right while isolating each sound. Students write the grapheme that represents each sound on the corresponding line.
- Read and blend: Students tap each monster again while reading each sound in isolation. Then, they drag their finger across the arrow while blending the sounds to read the whole word.
- Use for extra practice: Use the cards in small groups to provide additional practice and support, or print them for the whole class and keep them at students' desks for ongoing dictation practice.
